The Original Seckel Pear Tree.

Adviced by the Germantown Telegraph. The Gardener's Monthly for September has a full history of the original Seckel pear tree, which is still standing in the "Neck," illustrated with a cut of tree. It is only about half standing; in fact, not being much more than a shell. It still bears a few pears. It is supposed to be about one hundred and fifty years old. It is conjectured that the seed from which the tree sprung was thrown overboard in a core from a vessel as it passed down the Delaware, which, being washed to the shore, took root and grew, there being subsequently dykes thrown up to protect the bank against the encroschment of the tides. The farm on which the tree stands is now owned by Wr. Resting. We have is now owned by Mr. Bastian. We have now upon our premises a Seckel pear-tree grafted from the original tree. It grew upon the grounds of the late Simon Gratz, esq., on Broad street, whence we had it removed when it was over thirty years old, some twenty years ago, and it now gives us a yearly crop of fruit of the best Small Compost Heaps.

All farmers know the value of "compost" and how to prepare it. Many far-mers manufacture hundreds of loads of best manure in this way. They gather together on the premises forest-leaves, cornstalks, including the roots, weeds, vines, offal from fence-corners, muck from ponds and ditches, occasional sprinklings of lime through the mass, layers of barnyard manure, and thus build up oblong squares and let it remain over winter. When April arrives the mass has gone through fermentation and comminution, and presents a mound of fertilizing matter better than a small gold mine would be to the proprietor of the farm. But we want to see these compost heaps in the garden, and there is no reason why they should not be there as well as upon the farm. There is rubbish enough in the garden, with the assistance of leaves, some mold from the woods, if attainable; if not, from portions of the premises where it can be spared; scrapings from the turnpike; manure from the stable, and every attainable substance that will decay through the winter. A little slacked lime will be a good assistance. A half dozen to a dozen loads of excellent manure will be manufactured by the time it is wanted in the spring, without incurring scarcely any ex-Apple Culture.

If we look back only a few years, when to talk with farmers on their neglect in planting more apple orchards and raise more of this the most valuable of all fruit, it was to be met with the same answer that it was entirely useless to attempt it, as the land had run out, so far as the culture of this fruit was concerned, and we must depend upon other sections—the West -for our supply of apples hereafter. Ly referring to our columns from twenty to thirty years ago, it will be seen that we tried our best to combat this idea, and to show that it was not the land, but the neglect to do justice to the orchard. The land was not kept in good order, being seldom manured, the trees left unpruned and allowed to die from old age, and not enewed by the planting of other trees first selecting such varieties-but only a few-that are known to be the best suited to the soil and the demands of the mar-

In time, by this prodding. efforts were made to see what could be done; and we may add that many of these efforts were 'fancy farmers" (if we may so call them) from the cities, who did not stop at spending money in attempts to do what in earlier periods had been so successfully done in apple raising. The result, in nearly every case, has more than realized all their anticipations, and we can now see here at our very doors he products of the orchard in quantity and quality beyond anything known in the past. Hence apple culture is fast becoming an impor tant branch of farming, and as profitable all things considered, as any followed to the same extent upon the farm.

THE GREATEST BLESSING. A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters is that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it? See other column. Will you try it? See other column.

A Perfect Martyr. "I was a perfect martyr to rheumatism," a hale and hearty individual was heard to remark the other day, "but," continued he, "Dr. Thomes," Eclectric Oil banished the pains, which racked my joints and muscles, and look at me now now." A glance convinced us. For sale by H. B. Cochran, druggist, 137 and 139 North Queen street, Lancaster, Pa. 8

A Paster Made Happy. I have been greatly troubled with my didneys and liver for over twenty years, and during that entire time I was never free from pain. My medical bills were enormous, and I visited both the Hot and White Springs, noted for the curative qualities of the water. I am happy to say I am now a well man, and cured entirely as the result of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. With such gloifous results, I am only too glad to testify regarding the remedy which has made me so happy.

30-trdMWF&S Brandy as a Medicine.

The following article was voluntarily sent to

Mr. H. Slaymaker, Agent for Reigar: a Old Wine Store, by a prominent practising physician of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regula, practice, It is commended to the attention of those af-

Indigestion and Dyspepsia. BRANDY AS A MEDICINE.

This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims. With a purely philanthropic motive we present to the favorable notice of invalids—especially those afflicted with that miserable disease. Despenses a greates a served of several which is

Brandy. The aged, with feeble appetite and more or ess debility, will find this simple medicine, when ased properly.

A Sovereign Remedy or all their ills and aches. Be it, however strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is

REIGART'S OLD BRANDY, Sold by our enterprising young friend, H E SLAYMAKER. This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandies, no matter with how many jaw-breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifics would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or cases. In proof of the curative powers of Reigart's Old Brandy.

In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon num bers of witnesses—one case in particular we cite:—
A hard-working farmer had been afflicted with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour eructations constantly—uo appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet to crackers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now, preached at times, and in his discourses often decisimed earnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try

Reigart's Old Brandy,

In his case, he looked up with astonishment, but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which helelose to ent. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine he has been of very little pecuniary benefit to the doctor.—A Practising Physician.
